Three of Kind Make Full House

Three of a kind are going to make a full house for Mr. and Mrs. John W. Griffiths, 2840 Cadboro Bay Road, who yesterday became the proud parents of Victoria's first identical triplets in 40 years. Happy parents look fondly at their handsome sons just a few hours after their arrival shortly after noon at St. Joseph's Hospital with Dr. Lloyd W. Bassett in charge.

Triplets Born in City; First Time in 40 Years

'What a Panic!' Mother Exclaims

BY LAWRIE JOSLIN

The stork worked overtime yesterday—something the old bird hasn't done in Victoria for 40 years—carrying triplets to Mr. and Mrs. John W. Griffiths, 2840 Cadboro Bay Road.

All five are doing fine, even Pop. The three sturdy mites—all boys—were delivered shortly after noon by Dr. Lloyd W. Bassett at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The happy, excited parents posed for pictures with their babies within a few short hours of their arrival.

Big for triplets, the babies weighed four pounds, six ounces; five pounds, 11 ounces, and five pounds, 13 ounces. The first arrived at 12:19 p.m., the second at 12:25, and the third at 12:33.

"What a panic!" This was the way the over-jumped mother summed things up as she sought help from the nurses in identifying which of her babies was "A", which was "B" and which was "C".

The young couple has not yet decided on names for the three-

AFTER HUNTER BOYS?

"Maybe we should call them Maurice, Barley and Bruce after those Hunter boys who do all that funny advertising," said Mrs. Griffiths, laughing.

The triplets weren't exactly a shock for the Griffiths because they peeked before Mr. Stork's arrival. An X-ray examination two months ago indicated that triplets were coming. Even so, they still could scarcely believe their eyes after the happy event.

The proud father is employed by Universal Sheet Metal Works. He and his wife, the former Lorna Burns, are both 26. They have one other child, a boy, only 22 months old.

MARRIED 3½ YEARS

How long have they been married? They were so excited they had difficulty remembering.

"About three and a half years," said Mr. Griffiths.

"It must have been that long to have all these children," said Mrs. Griffiths.

Neither parent knew of any previous cases of multiple births in their families.

The young couple is now living with Mrs. Griffiths' mother, Mrs. G. I. Burns, but they are building a two-bedroom home under NHA on Argyle.

GLAD THEY'RE BOYS

Mrs. Griffiths was relieved that all her babies are boys. "Now we can have them all in one bedroom in bunk beds," she said.

Mrs. Griffiths confessed that she isn't really ready for her new babies. Their birth found her with little more in the way of clothes than a few tiny nightgowns. She was so ill during her confinement that she wasn't able to do any sewing or knitting.

Both parents love children. Mrs. Griffiths was a teacher at Doncaster school until a couple of years ago. She has lived here for about nine years.

Mr. Griffiths is the son of Rev. and Mrs. T. G. Griffiths, 3540 Richmond. Until his re-

Heartbroken

BETTY HUTTON

Betty Hutton Quitting

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Betty Hutton, 33, said yesterday she is retiring from show business "because I just can't take the heartbreak anymore."

She said that after a Las Vegas night club engagement she will quit performing and devote her time to being a mother.

"I'm tired," she declared. "This business is not as glamorous as it seems. It can be just as heartbreaking as it is glamorous."

"There are other things in life besides money. I haven't been able to even see my kids. When they were younger I could take them with me, but now Lindsay is eight and in the third grade and Candy is six and in the first grade."

Betty has been unable to find a movie that she wanted to do and has been off the screen four years. She was disappointed in her first TV "spectacular" show, "Satins and Spurs."

Voting Drubs Leftists

Communist-supported proposals were batted down right and left by a big majority of the 850 delegates in a day of political operations that also saw the CCL decide to renew its ties with the CCF on the political front.

Major anti-Red action was the decision of the 400,000-member congress to continue its support of the Communist-fighting International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, a move taken over the protests of leftists in a shouting debate.

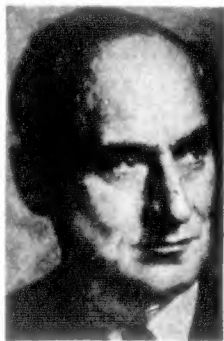

As a follow-up to that step, the congress threw out a left-wing resolution that called for the CCL to send delegates to a forthcoming conference of the Moscow-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions.

Leftists also led the opposition to the CCL renewing its long-standing political association with the CCF, but again they were swamped by a top-heavy majority.

Seance Spurs Callers

OTTAWA (CP)—The retired New York Times reporter who says he communed with the late prime minister Mackenzie King from beyond the grave is a busy man these days—answering the telephone.

Percy J. Philip said Tuesday people are calling day and night. Some are cranks and some are spiritualists. But most simply want the text of the address he made last Friday over the CBC.

It was in this talk that he told of communicating with Mr. King, known to be interested in spiritualism before his death in 1950. Mr. Philip said the talk took place last June as he sat on a garden bench at Mr. King's summer home at Kingsmere, Que., 10 miles from Ottawa.

Since the broadcast many persons have visited Kingsmere. Some have sat silent on the bench in an apparent effort to duplicate Mr. Philip's effort.

Tuesday this wag's notice appeared on the bulletin board of the parliamentary press gallery: "Weather permitting, Mackenzie King will give an interview from his bench in the ruins of Kingsmere next Sunday at 3:30 p.m. celestial time.—PJP."

Attlee Majority Still Slim

Bevan Loses Bid for Executive; Party Backs German Arms Plan

France, Allies Split on Arms

LONDON (AP)—France and her Western allies disagreed Tuesday night on how to prevent any runaway German rearmament. The question emerged as the key issue before the nine-power conference meeting to free and rearm West Germany in the Atlantic alliance.

French Premier Pierre Mendès-France called for a seven-country European armaments authority to control the production and supply of weapons in West Germany, France, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg and Italy. Britain would be an uncontrolled seventh partner.

German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer proposed instead that controls be exercised by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization over all of its continental European members. West Germany would become NATO's 15th member nation.

Sixteen Governments Sign

Neither the United States, Canada nor Russia participated. The 16 endorsed a 3,800-word "convention relating to the status of stateless persons," intended to help an estimated 40,000,000.

It puts all such on an equal basis with the nationals of the country where they live when it comes to getting public relief, social security and food rations.

It puts them on an equal basis with all other foreigners when it comes to getting jobs, going into the professions, acquiring property and benefiting from higher education and public housing.

For want of passports, they are to be issued special travel documents uniform the world over.

Signers are Belgium, Brazil, Britain, Costa Rica, Denmark, Ecuador, El Salvador, West Germany, Guatemala, Honduras,

SCARBOROUGH, England (Reuters)—The British Labor party Tuesday ousted leftist leader Aneurin Bevan from the executive and approved support for the government's policy backing West German rearmament.

But party leader Clement Attlee obtained only a narrow majority of votes for German rearmament at the party's annual conference here.

Attlee and his moderate leadership had to beat off a violent attack on the plan by backers of Bevan and other leftists.

Victory by the margin of about 250,000 votes in voting by delegates representing the party's 6,000,000 members did save Attlee from the dilemma of a complete switch on the policy he has been advocating in Parliament for months. But it also made clear that there is far from unanimous support here for a rearmament Germany.

The official resolution that talks should be held with other socialist parties on how best to rearm Germany was carried by a vote of 3,270,000 to 3,022,000.

The strident, 57-year-old Bevan met a crushing defeat in a contest with Hugh Gaitskell, chancellor of the exchequer in Attlee's last cabinet, for the vacant post of party treasurer. The job carries a seat on the executive committee, the party's ruling body.

Mr. Gaitskell, 42, is a former member of the party's ruling body.

Egypt Seizes Israeli Ship

CAIRO (AP)—An Egyptian gun-boat seized a small Israeli freighter Tuesday as it tried to run Egypt's blockade on Israeli shipping through the Suez canal.

Pact Urged For Defense

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—The chairman of the U.S. congressional atomic committee Tuesday called for a new mutual continental defense pact between Canada and the United States.

Despite Hug, Kind Words

Uncle Louis Fails To Halt Child's Sobbing

OTTAWA (CP)—Uncle Louis Tuesday took a sobbing eight-year-old girl into his arms at Ottawa's Union Station and said he was sorry.

Prime Minister St. Laurent apologized to golden-haired Jill Winnett of Ottawa because officialdom had prevented her from kissing her grandmother goodbye.

The incident occurred two or three minutes after Prime Minister Yoshida of Japan left Ottawa by train.

Canada's fatherly, 72-year-old prime minister said his official goodbye to Mr. Yoshida. After a few minutes he left the concourse for the station rotunda.

But he stopped short at the gates between the concourse and the rotunda, where Jill Winnett was standing with her mother and 11-year-old brother John. The little girl was holding her mother's hand and tears streamed down her cheeks.

Mr. St. Laurent asked the mother, Mrs. Mary Winnett, wife of Capt. Harry Winnett of the Royal Canadian Navy, what had happened.

Mrs. Winnett said her daughter had not been able to kiss her grandmother goodbye. The grandmother, Mrs. E. M. Guest of Ottawa, was on her way to England on the train carrying the Japanese prime minister.

Mrs. Winnett, Jill and John were not permitted to enter the concourse because of the departure ceremony for Mr. Yoshida. They only managed to wave goodbye to Mrs. Guest.

Mr. St. Laurent put his arms around Jill and said he was sorry. He asked her not to cry and said her grandmother would be returning to Canada soon.

The prime minister walked with Jill out of the station chatting to her. He stayed at her side until he arrived at his car.

As Mr. St. Laurent drove off, Jill still was sobbing.

Decision Amended In Assault Case Of Victoria Boxer

A Victoria police court decision in the case of Edward Robertson, 21-year-old local boxer, fined $75 for assault on him.

Police Boss Flees Reds; Now in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top-ranking Polish security officer who fled from behind the Iron Curtain turned up in Washington Tuesday. He declared that resistance to Communist regimes is widespread throughout the Soviet satellite countries.

The official is Jozef Swiatlo, who was No. 2 man in Communist Poland's security program. The U.S. government had kept him secretly in Washington for eight months.

The story brought into the open an account of the disappearance five years ago of Noel and Herman Field, American brothers, and Noel's wife, Herta.

Swiatlo, a stocky, ruddy-faced man of 38, spoke with newspaper men at a press conference at which he said:

Active revolt against the Communists in Iron Curtain countries is a virtual impossibility now because "the Red Army is everywhere."

"There is a great movement for resistance," he likely organized by a central body.

He fled Poland because of "great ideological disappointments."

The state department made public notes sent to Poland and Hungary, demanding the Fields' release. Noel Field went to Czechoslovakia in May, 1949, subsequently disappearing. His German-born wife, Herta, followed, and she, too, vanished.

Three months later, Herman went to Poland hunting for his brother.

The brothers were accused of spying for the United States.

Labrador Skipper Has Relatives Here

Capt. Owen Robertson, who brought HMCS Labrador here from the Atlantic Coast, via the Northwest Passage, is the son of Mrs. W. E. Gardner, 911 McClure Street, and the brother of Mrs. Sandy Holm, 909 McClure.

His father was Capt. George E. L. Robertson, well-known shipping master here years ago.

Capt. George Robertson was the first captain of Ss. Prince George on this coast and from 1911 to 1919 was agent here for the department of marine, with headquarters in the old red brick building on Wharf Street near the old post office.

In 1919 he went to Ottawa as supervisor of pilotage for the federal government. He died in Ottawa in 1938.

His son, Owen, followed in his footsteps and early went to sea. Before he went into the navy early in the 1930s, he was with the Canadian National fleet of "Lady" liners plying between eastern Canada and the West Indies, with this fleet he earned his deep-sea master's ticket.

Parley Today For Trustees

President of the three-day jubilee convention will be Mrs. Ada Crump, of Vancouver, veteran trustee.

School financing, teacher recruiting and curriculum are among the top subjects on the agenda. To date there are 28 resolutions on the program and it is possible others will be presented from the floor.

YOU CAN'T BURN ME

BY WILLIAM G. BOGART

(Copyright, 1954, William G. Bogart. All rights reserved. This story is published by the King Features Syndicate, Inc., distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

As the sound faded, Paul moved. He rapped orders at his sister, "Lock every door. Don't go out of the house. Shut these windows, too!" He grabbed a heavy iron poker hanging from the stand at the fireplace and

Lee stared wildly after him. "No, Paul!" she cried, but he was already swinging his legs lightly across the window sill.

The wide front porch was empty. It seemed to him that the last echoes of the horrible laughter had come from down toward the lake. He ran down the steps.

There was a graveled drive that led from the garage, at the rear of the big house, down to the lake road. Paul thought he heard the faint scuff of feet on the gravel some distance away.

And through his brain was vividly etched the grim picture of his father back there, strangled, dead—killed by a madman.

Edward Robertson, according to evidence presented in police court, assaulted Sgt. John Mason. Robertson testified in turn that he was severely beaten by the police officers, once when he was handcuffed.

Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran noted that this was Robertson's first offense.

He stated, however, that the court took a serious view of attacks on police officers and that ordinarily a fine would not be adequate or proper punishment.

He said that the suspended sentence would be imposed in view of the court's efforts to rehabilitate first offenders.

Robertson was ordered to report to the probation officer every two weeks for the first month and once a month for the succeeding five months.

Mr. Justice O'Halloran told Robertson he would be called back to appeal court and sentenced for the present offense if he didn't behave as the probation officer thought he should during the probationary period.

Joseph Haydn, the great Austrian composer, was a chorister in Vienna at age 12.

There isn't very much doubt that Vancouver Island has the best climate in Canada. If not in the North American continent. We have a growing season of 236 days between the average killing frosts of March 27 to November 18. We have cool summers and moderate winters. We have an annual rainfall of almost 30 inches, which is almost ideal except for one little fly in the ointment—it comes all at the wrong time!

We have to fight all summer with hose and mulch to keep our gardens alive through the drought, while fire hazards close our forests and municipal authorities enforce sprinkling restrictions. Then, just about the time we could use some dry weather for the lifting of our dahlias and gladioli and root crops, along come the fall rains. In the winter, we lose far more plants through drowning than we ever do by frost.

Palms and less in the winter, we could extend the range of plants grown here tremendously. In fact, we could probably line Beach Drive with palm trees, as they do in Cornwall and parts of Ireland.

Even George Warren and Bill Mackie, working in collaboration, can't do anything to influence the distribution of our annual rainfall, but there is quite a lot of things we, as individual gardeners, can do to minimize its effects.

I have written reams about the techniques of combatting summer drought, of mulching, and growing vegetables and other plants in trenches to conserve water, and of running the rows crosswise on slanting ground. We allow the grass clippings to remain on the lawn to mulch the grass roots, we dig in quantities of organic material to act as a sponge and store moisture underground, and we adjust our fertilizer dosages so our plants receive the same nutrition even under low moisture conditions.

JUST OPPOSITE

In growing plants through the winter, the thing to remember is that almost all these techniques have to be reversed. Instead of growing plants in trenches, the idea is to make up raised beds, standing well above the surrounding terrain. Instead of soggy compost, the soil in such beds should contain a high proportion of free-draining sand, and instead of nitrogen, which makes lush, soft growth, the fertilizers for such winter beds should be mostly phosphorus and potash for hard, sturdy growth. The essential minerals, required only in tiny traces, are leached out of our soils by our heavy water rains, and should be replaced by dosages of FTE (fritted trace elements) or Es-Min-EI.

Remember that the sides of such raised beds will break down badly unless they are given some support. A few old bits of lumber, or low walls built of stones, or even temporary supporting walls made of squares of turf will keep the beds tidy through the winter.

That had been Lou Ward's ugly face outside the window. Lou, an insane murderer, was in the State asylum 25 miles from here. Or was supposed to be.

Paul remembered the words the crazed killer had screamed that last day in court: "I'll kill all of you! You can't burn me!"

Paul moved warily. The drive cut into the lake road and dipped down into a hollow. A pine grove bordered the spot.

The attorney paused, watching. The roadway was bright as day in the moonlight. No one moved along it.

But anyone could have slipped into the grove there, and circled back!

Paul spun and darted back toward the house. He should have never left Lee there alone.

He had just reached the top of the rise when he saw someone dart across the sweep of lawn that fronted the big house. Had the killer, this madman, been in the house?

He saw the fleeing man dodge to the more populated lake colony. The car thundered in the quiet night and sped away.

Paul turned back, hurried up the rear porch steps, pounded on the door. "Lee!" he called. He was tense with fear.

The door swung open. Lee stood there, trembling. She motioned him inside, then quickly bolted the door. She said: "When you were following him... I saw him... his face! Lou Ward's face!" She clung to his arm. "Paul, how could he...?"

He led her to a chair and forced her to sit down. "Easy," he said softly. "Get hold of yourself."

His mind was on the still, lifeless man who lay in the study. There was nothing he could do until Mike Flynn arrived. Mike was police chief of Weston, and his father's closest friend.

Lee looked up at Paul. "I'll... be all right," she murmured. The question was still in her deep eyes. "Paul, that man... I remember the case well... He was put away for life, insane."

Mr. and Mrs. Pauline came with their daughters to Victoria in 1888 from England.

One of the daughters, Mrs. Nugent Short, who lives here, recalled a few years ago: "My older brothers had come out before us. Fred came first, and he rented a house for us—the Stapleton place on King's Road. We were there a short time and then we went to View Street and from there to the old Tod place."

Mrs. Bantly's first husband was Daniel Hickey, widowed, a few years ago she married Benedict Bantly, a widower, who was a prominent musician here 50 years ago. He and Mrs. Hickey had been schoolyard friends and often appeared together in local musicals and theatricals.

Jury Puts Blame For Death Crash On Car's Owner

Blame for Sunday morning's crash in Saanich that took four lives has been placed on the dead owner of the car.

Brandon Henthorne, 30, of 502 Dallas Road, was driving the big red convertible when it plumed off Blenkinsop Road and crashed into a clump of trees shortly after midnight Sunday.

Killed with Henthorne were Miss Mabel Helen Laidlaw, 34, of 954 Heywood, and Miss Margaret Betty Winnifred Sargeant, 36, and James Jackson, 26, both of whom lived in the same rooming house as Henthorne at 502 Dallas.

"NOT ACCIDENT" Coroner E. C. Hart told the jury after evidence was heard: "I always consider a smash of this kind is not an accident. There is always somebody to blame for it."

But the coroner told them he would accept a verdict of accidental death.

"There is no reason why a man should not be indicted by a jury because he is dead. Should you bring in a verdict of manslaughter or culpable neglect I will accept it," added Dr. Hart.

He pointed out that although the driver's identity could not be ascertained, Henthorne, as the owner of the car and riding in it, was held responsible by law.

The jury returned and asked for direction after it had been out about 20 minutes. Foreman Charles Hunt asked the coroner if there were a possible verdict that compromised between accidental death and culpable neglect.

He was told there was not. WARNING SOUND

Dr. Hart pointed out that the verdict of culpable neglect had been brought in because juries had been reluctant to return manslaughter verdicts in accidents that were obviously not accidental.

The jury came back with its verdict after about half-an-hour. It recommended that Saanich council erect a warning sign at the corner on Blenkinsop Road near Mount Douglas Crossroads where the accident occurred.

(The Colonist learned Monday from Reeve Joseph Casey of Saanich that the municipal police commission had already decided to take such action.)

Doctors testified that the four victims, who had been returning from a Cabbro Bay dance pavilion, died primarily of head injuries.

Dr. George Houston said he

Appeal Court Quashes Rush Conviction

B.C. Court of Appeal has quashed a conviction imposed on a doctor who refused to take his dying wife to hospital.

Without a dissenting voice, the full court of five appeal judges yesterday upset the manslaughter conviction of Dr. Raymond Rush of Vancouver, who was found guilty in Assize Court last June.

Dr. Rush was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane following trial in Vancouver June 23.

He was charged with manslaughter following the death of his wife, Margaret, on November 30, 1953. Evidence showed Mrs. Rush died of "ulcerative colitis." During the Assize Court trial, the Crown alleged that two doctors advised the accused to send his wife to hospital. Dr. Rush, however, refused to do so, claiming that his wife would not survive the journey.

'Airy Ivory Tower'

Liberal Chief Raps Kiernan Statement

BY RAY BAINES
Colonist Legislative Reporter

Statements by Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan in Nanaimo that farmers will have to tighten their belts this year were blasted yesterday by Liberal leader Arthur Laing.

Mr. Laing called the minister's words "airy ivory tower pronouncements" which provided no solution to the present weather-depressed agricultural situation in B.C.

The criticism was contained in a telegram to Mr. Kiernan which arrived at the minister's office Monday.

In Nanaimo last week the minister blamed the weather for the had agriculture situation in B.C. He told farmers they would have to tighten belts "a little bit and look forward to next year."

Mr. Laing said he called out but received no answer. He went back to the house and called Saanich police. By the time he put some clothes on and went back the police had arrived.

The witness told the jury the corner was approximately a 30-degree angle, on a slight downgrade.

WELL BANKED "I would not consider it a bad corner at the speed limit," said Mr. Pendray. He added that the limit is 30 mph. there. He stated the corner is well banked. He said that last Friday while in Saanich police station on other business he asked that a sign be put at the corner Mr. Pendray told the jury that there had been accidents at the corner, and he thought a sign would be useful with the approach of winter driving.

Constable Robin Stewart said six bottles of beer and some broken beer bottles were found at the crash.

The officer said Blenkinsop Road is 21 feet wide at that point, with a four-foot shoulder on the side of the road the car went off.

NO SIGN OF BRAKES Measurements showed the car struck a power pole 37 feet from the point it left the road. It traveled 111 feet in the bush before hitting a tree, and came to a halt 52 feet further on. Total distance off the road was 164 feet.

The officer said there were indications that the car traveled more than 30 feet on its side.

"There did not appear to have been any brakes applied," he replied in answer to a juryman.

The juryman were: Charles W. Hunt, 3176 Fifth; Arthur E. Erickson, 1180 Burnside; John H. Holland, 3329 Cedar Hill Road; Robert E. Rogers, 956 Dunsmuir; Albert Collins, 2089 Oak Bay Avenue, and Robert G. Wilson, 538 Vincent.

Speed Governors No Longer Needed On 'U-Drive' Cars

Operators of "U-drive" cars in B.C. will no longer have to equip them with governors, speed control devices making them incapable of more than about 45 miles an hour.

The provincial cabinet has approved the wiping out of section 29 of the Motor Vehicle Act which required governors on all rented cars.

R. A. Hadfield, deputy superintendent of motor vehicles, said yesterday that rental firms had requested the change on the grounds that the governors are hazards in lower gears, especially when an unsuspecting driver-customer tried to pass another car.

He said the U-drive people had "tightened their own regulations" to such an extent that they are now renting cars to a more reliable type of client.

British Columbia has been the last province in Canada and one of the last places in North America to require governors on U-drives.

Mr. Hadfield said that back in the early days of U-drive cars,

IVER, England (Reuters)—Mothers, even when they're duchesses, take a dim view of offspring who sprinkle ink on rugs.

12-year-old son, Prince Michael, picked up some "vanishing" ink at a magic store.

To show how well the stuff worked he sprinkled it all over a beautiful beige rug at the family mansion here at a party.

While horrified guests looked on he announced blithely that it would disappear in a few minutes—only it didn't.

The man who sold the stuff swore by his product. It always vanishes, he said.

Someone, he claimed, must have switched bottles on Michael.

That didn't solve the situation. The ink didn't vanish. Monday expert rug cleaners were called in to remove the spots before the duchess returned home. She was due later today.

Temporary Halt Put to Airport Sale Deal

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The sale of this city's interest in the international airport to the federal government for $1,000,000 has been put off for the time being, it was announced Tuesday.

City aldermen had been expected to make the move Monday to reintroduce the by-law for the December election, but no move was made. The sale by-law was turned down by ratepayers at a special June voted to cast off the cloak of incorporation within Langley municipality and form their own little city.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A resolution calling on the federal government to increase old-age pensions to $60 from $40 a month was approved in principle by the Senior Citizens' Association of B.C. today.

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Establishment of a chair of music at the University of B.C. in Vancouver will be proposed to Education Minister Ray Wiliston and Premier Bennett by the music and drama festival association here.

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—Fire Tuesday destroyed the Chappell Lumber Company mill in North Vancouver. Damage was estimated at $150,000.

Thirty men were in the building when the fire started about 12:30 p.m., apparently from a welder's torch as workmen repaired machinery.

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The tail assembly of a giant Canadian Pacific Airlines DC-6B plane was damaged Tuesday at the Abbotsford B.C. airport, when a truck tried to drive under the tail.

CFA officials here said damage to the plane might amount to $40,000 plus $60,000 loss of revenue. The aircraft will be put out of service for at least a month while replacement parts are shipped from the Douglas Aircraft factory at Los Angeles. The truck was under charter to Trans-Canada Airlines.

CRANBROOK (BUP)—Logging operations came to a halt in the southeastern Interior today as snow plastered the entire mountain horizon down to the 4,000-foot level.

His First And Last

OTTAWA (CP)—John Fyfe, 35-year-old Ottawa trucker, told fellow drivers over coffee Monday night that he'd never had an accident in 1,500,000 miles of driving. Then he set out for Toronto in his big paper-laden tractor-trailer.

Four hours later he was killed when his truck left Highway 15 south of Smiths Falls, crashed through brush and woods, thundered down an embankment into swamp land and burst into flames.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Alcoholism Foundation of British Columbia will establish an out-patient clinic near Vancouver General Hospital as soon as accommodation can be found to rent, president Harry J. Seed said Tuesday.

The proposed out-patient clinic will be first step in a program which includes relocation and enlargement of the present rehabilitation centre here and publication of a Journal on Alcoholism as part of an educational program aimed at helping alcoholics recognize their illness and encouraging them to seek treatment.

We'll recite West's plays in this hand, and any time you disagree just holler, "Stop," and say what you'd have done in place. But don't peek now.

From the bidding, it would seem that North is short of diamonds, so West leads the three of spades. Dummy goes down (you may look at his hand) and plays the nine which holds the trick. Declarer leads a low diamond to the jack. You win with the queen and return the two of spades. Dummy's queen wins. East follows suit, and declarer drops the jack. A low diamond is led, and when East plays the six declarer puts in the nine, won by your ten.

You shift to the ten of clubs. North's king wins and he leads a heart to declarer's ace. You make a note to cash your king the moment you win another trick, but you don't get the chance. South leads a low diamond and North trumps. The ace of clubs is cashed and a club ruffed by South, and declarer then leads the last diamond, trumped in dummy. You can take your thumbs off the other hands now, because the blow has already fallen—or is about to. North leads a heart and you are in with the king. You have only clubs left to lead, declarer is able to pitch

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

This is a tough world series to predict. It would seem at first glance that a team which could win by eight games in a season in which the New York Yankees won 103 games should be a cinch, particularly in view of the ease which the Yanks have handled National League opposition in the past. But do the Cleveland Indians actually warrant the 9-5 betting odds over the New York Yankees?

Cleveland supporters, naturally, point to the Indians' pitching staff as the basis for their confidence. They have Mike Cuccinelli with a 2.45 earned run average; Bob Lemon and Early Wynn, 23-game winners both, at 2.61 and 2.78, respectively; Bob Feller at 3.08, and Art Houtteman at 3.31. Those are, admittedly, impressive figures, but figures sometimes don't tell the whole story.

First of all, those figures were made in the American League. That was quite a help this season because of the five paces behind the top three clubs. And Cleveland's pitching made the most of the situation. Let's see if a few holes can't be punched in the idea of Cleveland pitching superiority.

Pittsburgh Pirates finished last in the National League, 44 games behind the Giants, but the Pirates managed to win 23 games from the top three clubs—the Giants, Dodgers and Milwaukee Braves. In the American League, the last two clubs, Baltimore Orioles and Philadelphia Athletics, could do no better a combined total of 25 victories against the top three. Going a bit further, the trailing five in the National League won 115 games from the three leaders as against 83 games for the futility five in the American League. This quintet won only 21 games from the Indians—and the Detroit Tigers won eight of those—while losing 89. Against the Yanks and the third-place Chicago White Sox, Cleveland's pitching didn't do better than 22-22 and the Indians, of course, saved their best for their only two rivals.

At the same time, the Giants have some pretty fair pitching of their own. Hoyt Wilhelm boasts a 2.13 earned-run average, Marv Grissom wound up at 2.16, Johnny Antonelli at 2.41, Rube Gomez at 2.97 and Sal Maglie at 3.13. And this in spite of the fact that smaller parks and more good hitters saw about 300 more home runs hit in the National League than in the American.

Am I convinced? Not quite, although the Giants are a bit better defensively and have more explosive plate power. It's a shaky series vote for the Indians here but my money is on the Giants. At the 2 to 1 I've been getting, it's a good bet. Win or lose.

Random Harvest

Dan Parker, New York sports columnist, is wondering if Lucy Monroe, or whoever sings the U.S. National Anthem before the start of series games at the Polo Grounds, will start out "Say, hey, can you see . . ." Parker also wondered if players shouldn't be reminded that they shouldn't scratch anything but infield hits while playing before TV cameras. . . . The Helms Foundation has established a Hall of Fame for, of all things, volleyball. . . . Look magazine's major league all-star team, picked by radio and television broadcasters, doesn't include either Bob Lemon or Willie Mays and has Chico Carrasquel at shortstop in preference to Pee Wee Reese, the grand Dodger veteran who just completed one of his best years with a batting average of more than .300. . . . Picked up at Memorial Arena last night was the report that defenseman Lou Fontana has refused to play with Vancouver Canucks and has left for Saskatoon, presumably in the hope that he will be allowed to line up with the Quakers. . . . And the Canucks, incidentally, didn't have much left when the Rangers took what they wanted. Gone from last season's league champions are their three top stars—goalie Lorne Worsley, defenseman Allan Stanley and forward Larry Popein. Gone also are several players who had been counted as Canuck property for the season and Vancouver officials are a mile worried. . . . Those who have been asking why the Cougars can't get needed hockey players must have had their answer at Memorial Arena last night. The Victoria club still needs a defenseman, leftwinger and centre but the New York Rangers need almost a whole new team if they are to rate in the NHL. That's quite a task facing coach Muzz Patrick this season. . . . Toronto has started a drive to raise $13,500 to liquidate the debts of Ryder's Lakeshore Swimming Club. It's a mark of appreciation for Gus Ryder, Marilyn Bell's coach. Ryder has long done noteworthy work with crippled children but it took Marilyn's conquest of Lake Ontario to produce something as tangible as this.

GUESSING DEPARTMENT: Cleveland to get the jump in the World Series. Batting average to date: At bat 741, hits 515, percentage .696.

Championship Races Planned for Juniors

The Canadian Legion, British Branch, has officially abandoned the Good Friday road races and, instead, will sponsor city championship races for youthfull competitors in an all-out effort to develop junior runners in the city.

Plans were completed yesterday to stage three championship road races on October 29, starting and finishing at the Victoria High School Gyroneinder track for runners 20 years of age and under. Trophies awarded in the annual Good Friday races will be up for competition in the new event, which will become an annual affair.

Decision to abandon the once-popular Good Friday races was made at the annual meeting of the branch last week. There were no Good Friday races held last April.

THREE CLASSES

The new competition will be divided into three classes—junior, intermediate and senior—and will be open to any boy who fits the age bracket. Officials are hoping to lure entries from the Mainland.

The junior class will be for boys under 16 and will be a mile-and-a-half while the intermediate division will be for boys between 16 and 18 over a two-and-a-half-mile course. The new class, replacing the old 10-mile event, will be for boys between 18 and 20 over a four-mile course.

In addition to the three trophies, the Canadian Legion will present the first three in each event with some kind of an award.

The Canadian Legion also sponsors the annual Greater Victoria long-distance champion-

Bob Lemon To Open for Indians Against Giants' Sal Maglie Today

BY JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Crafty Sal Maglie, New York Giants' 37-year-old curveball pitcher, and Bob Lemon, Cleveland's 23-game winning ace, will open the world series today at the Polo Grounds.

Although managers Leo Durocher of the Giants and Al Lopez of the Indians held up official announcements until early Tuesday afternoon, almost every fan had "selected" the pitchers days earlier.

Strong support for the American League champs, who are a league record by winning 111 games, sent the Las Vegas gambling odds to 9 to 5 on the Indians. Solid front-line pitching and the tradition of American League victory, unbroken since 1946, edged the price higher.

A survey of baseball writers who turned up at the Polo Grounds to watch the two clubs in their final workouts showed a lopsided vote for a Cleveland victory.

RHODES MAY START

Durocher still held out one bit of information—his starting left fielder. Depending on how he feels about it this morning, Durocher will play Dusty Rhodes, a left-handed hitter with a .341 average or the veteran Monte Irvin right-handed with a .262 average.

If Rhodes plays he'll bat in the No. 4 cleanup spot, followed by Willie Mays, the league batting champ, and Hank Thompson. If Irvin starts, Mays will hit fourth, followed by Thompson and Irvin in that order.

There were no "ifs" in the Cleveland lineup with Dave Philley, a switch hitter, definitely assigned to right field, the only doubtful spot. Some thought Lopez might two-plate Wally Westlake and Dave Pope in right because Philley, batting only .226, has been in a bad slump.

Lopez will follow Lemon with Early Wynn, another 23-game winner, in the second game and Durocher will use Johnny Antonelli, his 21-game winning left-hander. Mike Garcia will work for Cleveland Friday but Durocher isn't ready to go that far yet. It will be Ruben Gomez or Don Liddle, depending on what has happened.

Maglie has made a fine comeback after suffering with a bad back and a sorry 8-9 record last season.

Shuttle Opening

The Esquimalt Badminton Club will open its 1954-55 season Sunday night at the Esquimalt Athletic Association Hall, Fraser Street, at 7:30. The club will operate every Sunday and Thursday nights at 7:30.

All last year's members and new newcomers interested are invited to attend.

Andrews Trounces Kerr To Reach Colwood Final

George (Poppy) Andrews will meet either George Sparling or Ted Colgate in the 36-hole final for the Royal Colwood Golf Club championship Sunday.

Andrews moved into the finals last Sunday with a stunning 6-and-5 victory over medalist and defending champion Laurie Kerr. Sparling and Colgate will clash in a semi-final match Saturday afternoon.

Kerr, who took medal honors with a two-under-par 68, wasn't in top form but Andrews forced the pressure all the way as he matched par over the first nine, slipped two over par on the 10th when he drove out of bounds, and matched regulation figures on the next three holes.

season. The scowling "barber" with the long sideburns applied the clincher last week by beating Brooklyn just as he had won so many big games all season.

During the 1954 season, Maglie completed nine of 32 starts for a 3.26 earned run average and a 14-6 record.

Fraley Picked Yanks; Now Favors Indians

BY OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Maybe you haven't noticed, but all of a sudden there are only two teams in baseball.

Fourteen teams have vanished without a trace. Now there are only the Cleveland Indians and the New York Yankees.

And at this time next week there will be only one—the Redmen from the shores of Lake Erie.

You can take this from a man who picked the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers to wind up in the World Series.

At the moment those names may be only faint recollections. But I assure you, that teams by those names played respectively in the American and National Leagues this season.

IN SIX GAMES It has come down, at this date, to whether you are an Indian fan or a man who lives—and will probably die—with the Giants. And expire they will in five or no more than six games.

The astounding part of all this is not the fact that either the Giants or Indians will win the World Series which roars into high gear come Wednesday. The $64 question is what happened to all those guys and gals who supposedly were dyed-in-the-wool undergar Yankee and Dodger fans?

Strangely enough, I have not heard a mob or seen a tear shed for either one of them. Yet along about the middle of the season, whether it was a television program or a radio show, all you had to do was mention one of them and there was a great burst of handclapping.

You could, at that time, mention the Indians or the Giants and you could have heard the ever-present pin drop. What dropped it made just about as much noise in the final analysis.

All of a sudden, though, you are either for the Giants or the Indians.

PITCHING STRENGTH

Usually, in this situation, it is impossible to see how either one of them can win it. But the nod here has to go to the bullpen brigade of the Indians. Give me Bob Lemon, Mike Garcia, Early Wynn, Bob Feller, Art Houtteman, Ray Narleski and Don Mossi and I'll give you Willie Mays, Johnny Antonelli, Sal Maglie and Hoyt Wilhelm—with Mickey Mantle and Duke Snider to boot.

In this corner that is strictly top choice between a couple of pretty fair country ball clubs.

But I'm right stubborn. I still don't see how the Yankees and Dodgers can lose. And, whether you remember them or not, I'll take the Yankees in six games.

Cleveland, too, as long as that's the way it has to be!

Bob Lemon To Open for Indians Against Giants' Sal Maglie Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Crafty Sal Maglie, New York Giants' 37-year-old curveball pitcher, and Bob Lemon, Cleveland's 23-game winning ace, will open the world series today at the Polo Grounds.

Although managers Leo Durocher of the Giants and Al Lopez of the Indians held up official announcements until early Tuesday afternoon, almost every fan had "selected" the pitchers days earlier.

Strong support for the American League champs, who are a league record by winning 111 games, sent the Las Vegas gambling odds to 9 to 5 on the Indians. Solid front-line pitching and the tradition of American League victory, unbroken since 1946, edged the price higher.

A survey of baseball writers who turned up at the Polo Grounds to watch the two clubs in their final workouts showed a lopsided vote for a Cleveland victory.

Durocher still held out one bit of information—his starting left fielder. Depending on how he feels about it this morning, Durocher will play Dusty Rhodes, a left-handed hitter with a .341 average or the veteran Monte Irvin right-handed with a .262 average.

If Rhodes plays he'll bat in the No. 4 cleanup spot, followed by Willie Mays, the league batting champ, and Hank Thompson. If Irvin starts, Mays will hit fourth, followed by Thompson and Irvin in that order.

There were no "ifs" in the Cleveland lineup with Dave Philley, a switch hitter, definitely assigned to right field, the only doubtful spot. Some thought Lopez might two-plate Wally Westlake and Dave Pope in right because Philley, batting only .226, has been in a bad slump.

Lopez will follow Lemon with Early Wynn, another 23-game winner, in the second game and Durocher will use Johnny Antonelli, his 21-game winning left-hander. Mike Garcia will work for Cleveland Friday but Durocher isn't ready to go that far yet. It will be Ruben Gomez or Don Liddle, depending on what has happened.

Maglie has made a fine comeback after suffering with a bad back and a sorry 8-9 record last season.

Cougars Bow, 5-1, To NHL Rangers As Condition Tells

BY JIM TANG

Victoria Cougars made their 1954-55 home debut before 4,891 paying customers at Memorial Arena last night, losing, 5-1, to the New York Rangers in a game in which the biggest difference was the edge in conditioning owned by the National Hockey League club.

In training just over a week and playing only their third game, the Cougars tired badly in the third period but they held their own in the first 40 minutes although in obvious need of a calibre defenseman and two forwards. But they at least have the knowledge that even as constituted, they face the Western Hockey League season with fewer personal problems than the Rangers. Three players won't make Muzz Patrick's club any serious NHL bid.

PSYCHOLOGY LESSON

The game produced a fairish amount of interesting hockey for this stage of the season. And it also produced a tussle between two former teammates—Ed Dorohoy, trying to win a place with the Rangers, and Cougar-winger Colin Kilburn—which was a lesson in fan psychology.

The pair tangled late in the first period after an exchange of well-meant stick-swinging which resulted in nothing but misses. Kilburn went after his ex-teammate following Dorohoy's second miss but his feet went out from under him as he closed in and Dorohoy wound up on top of the heap. They were soon separated, amid a chorus of boos. It developed these were for Dorohoy, who, late last season, received a new car from Victoria fans. And Dorohoy got the treatment at every appearance thereafter, it will be interesting to watch the reaction if, as is yet possible, he comes back for another season here.

MARQUESS SCORES

Rangers scored the only goal of a fairly even first period while Bill Davidson sat out a penalty. The Cougars, through Mark Marquess on a play set up by Gene Achtmichuk, tied it early in the second period, but they trailed 3-1 going into the final 20 minutes, although holding an edge.

It's too early to hand out any black marks although the Cougars admittedly need reinforcements before they can consider themselves set. On the bright side was evidence of the belief that Marcel Pelletier will do nicely as our goalkeeper and indications that in Mike Keating the Cougars have a rookie who may be a big help in solving their problem on defense.

KEATING WILLING

Pelletier could only be faulted on one goal and turned in a solid game, blocking 18 of 20 shots in the third period and 32 of 37 for the game. Keating made the mistakes of inexperience from time to time but he showed a willingness to mix it and enough all-round promise to indicate he will do.

As for the Rangers, they must have caused their officials some misgivings. They didn't appear to be much more than a good WHL club and a lot of players will have to do better than they did last night if they are to avoid battling Chicago Black Hawks to avoid the NHL dungeon.

WHL GRADUATES

There were no less than nine former WHL players in the New York line-up and a 10th, Ivan Irwin, was kept out of action by a leg injury. And the WHL graduates were as good as anything the Rangers had. Lorne Worsley was safe in goal although not having the opportunity to shine too brightly because the Cougars weren't getting too many good shots. On defense, ex-Saskatoon Quaker Jack Evans was the pick and the forward line of Larry Popein flanked by Andy Barrgate and Ron Murphy was as good as any.

Danny Lewicki, purchased from the Toronto Maple Leafs, hustled his way to two goals.

Morse, Colegrave Top Riflemen In Annual Shoot at Heals Range

BY EILEEN LEAROYD

The sharp fire of 110 rifles crackled over Heals Range last week end, as the Royal Canadian Navy assembled its "big guns" for the 6th annual shoot of the Pacific Coast Rifle Association.

An admiral and a commodore looked on as gun smoke rose in the air, and teams from Her Majesty's Canadian Ships Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, Naden and Malahat vied for the trophies and prize money.

The three-day shoot started Friday under service conditions and carried on through Saturday to Sunday when Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace came to congratulate the winners and present prizes.

Present for the ceremony Sunday was Rear Admiral J. C. Hibbard, Flag Officer Pacific Coast, with Mrs. Hibbard; Commodore Patrick D. Budge, C.O. Naden with Mrs. Budge; Maj. T. W. Hall, president of the BCRA from New Westminster, Col. Archie Hunt, president of the VIRA; Capt. David Groos of the Ontario and Cmdr. G. A. V. Thomson of Malahat.

While the majority of the shooters came from the Navy, a score or so represented the RCAF, the reserve army and various rifle associations.

The non-Navy entrants did not compete with the sailors, but shot for separate prizes in concurrently-run matches.

Lieut. George Grivel and CPO Walter Burch organized the big event. Lieut. G. Barrick and CPO Jim Luke were range officers.

Principle winners in the event were Frannie Morse of the Canadian Scottish Regiment, who won the All Corners Aggregate (non-Navy) with a score of 450, and the RCN's Lt. D. Colegrave who won the Navy Grand Aggregate. The latter had a score of 459 which included the Queen's Practice No. 1, a match not counted in the All Corners.

Morse was presented with the New York Life silver jug and Colegrave was given the handsome Admiral E. R. Malnguy trophy.

In Friday's services shooting R. A. Cato of HMCS Ontario was the big winner, taking the trophy for leading the aggregate of all four matches.

Rangers Given Little Chance To Hit Playoffs In First Full Season Under Muzz Patrick

Editor's Note: This is the second of a Canadian Press series on pro-season prospects in the National Hockey League. Today's story is about New York Rangers.

BY AL MARKLE

VANCOUVER (CP)—New York Rangers, who haven't finished higher than sixth in the six-team National Hockey League since the 1949-50 season, probably will be crying the blues long before playoff time rolls around.

The Blueshirts, out of playoff contention the last four seasons, aren't given much chance by rinkside observers to step up a notch and into the Stanley Cup playoffs in the 1954-55 season, although team officials hold bright hopes. The club hasn't been too impressive in training and it has lost a few old pros, players who could be counted upon when the going was toughest.

In addition, Wally Hergesheimer, the club's third highest scorer last year with 43 points, suffered a broken leg and it is doubtful if he will get back on the ice for at least three months. Rangers haven't strengthened materially since last spring when they finished fifth. The only noteworthy off-season deal was the purchase of Danny Lewicki from Toronto Maple Leafs.

They've lost winger Eddie Kullman, who joined Rangers in 1947 and who retired this season; defenseman Leo Reise.

Water Lack Means Loss Of Building

CAMPBELL RIVER—Lack of piped water forced firemen to make frequent trips half a mile to the nearest fire hydrants when flames leveled a large hay-filled barn on Masters Road, just outside the village boundary of Campbell River, Monday night.

Fire Chief Oscar F. Thulin estimated damage at $3,500 and said the blaze could be blamed on spontaneous combustion of wet hay.

Jack Hutchinson, owner of the barn, said the loss was insured.

DUNCAN—A special meeting of North Cowichan council Monday gave final approval to a by-law to provide a $450,000 water system for Chemainus and district, clearing the way for a public vote on the by-law October 16.

There will be a public meeting in Chemainus October 12 to discuss the question.

NANAIMO—Clerical work required in revision of tax rolls to meet requirements of the Assessment Equalization Act were described Monday night by Ald. Elsie Hall as "an imposition on any city."

"Two more employees will have to be hired and they as well as the entire city staff will have to work for a year at full steam to get this job done," she told the council.

SHAWNIGAN LAKE—A petition will be circulated among lake and creekside property owners to ascertain their wishes regarding construction of a lake level control here.

Evan Jones, provincial deputy minister of public works, explained petition steps to the Chamber of Commerce Monday.

GANGES—Salt Spring Island PTA has placed the controversial subject of children's report cards on the agenda for its next meeting.

It was announced that the $100 bursary donated by the PTA has been awarded to Jacqueline Twa.

At the first meeting of the Fulford PTA it was announced that Ann Nicholson of Ganges had won the annual PTA scholarship.

Alberni Rectifies Wrong Land Sale

ALBERNI—The city's auditors will be employed to bring property rolls up to date, Alberni council decided Monday after authorizing payment to offset an error in which privately-owned land was sold under the impression that the title had reverted to the city.

Council accepted responsibility for the error by authorizing payment of $500 and transfer of title of another lot to a Vancouver man who purchased the original lot in 1912. The plan was agreeable to the Vancouver man.

Records of titles were lost when fire destroyed the City Hall about 1930. Rolls had been adjusted since then, but it was felt errors were possible until all city-owned land was thoroughly checked.

Ald. T. L. Thomson urged the immediate check by auditors since city-owned property is in strong demand.

LADYSMITH—City council will receive a letter of congratulations from the Chamber of Commerce for a "job well done" in connection with recent changes at the city dump.

DUNCAN—The question of whether Cowichan Bay should be declared a separate public harbor has threatened to split the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting Monday.

Action was delayed until a mass meeting of residents of the district, Cowichan Bay, Duncan and nearby sections can be held.

John S. Lawrence, a former naval officer, won his demand for a delay in the vote when he said, "If you vote now, the members will go out of here in a 'swords at dawn' mood and it may split this chamber wide open."

Lubbock Square Site Ruled Out

NANAIMO—The provincial government will not consider Lubbock Square as the site for the combined police station and fire hall.

Ald. Gertrude Hall said Municipal Affairs Minister W. D. Black turned down the site because it is too small, two railway crossings are near and partial closing of two streets would cut off access to adjacent houses.

PORT ALBERNI—A proposal that the people of Alberni enter a plan of household delivery of mail has been urged by Tom Barnett, MP for Comox-Alberni, so that Alberni and Port Alberni can secure the advantage of the four-cent letter rate.

He said early action is needed to relieve overcrowding in the Alberni post office. Port Alberni has had home mail delivery for seven years, but Alberni residents have declared that extension would tend to mean loss of identity for their city, but Mr. Barnett said both names could be used.

Special Hospital Bus

Helping Hand Coming For Crippled Children

Crippled children who have no way of making regularly-scheduled visits to Greater Victoria hospitals will be getting a helping hand soon from four organizations.

The Victoria and Esquimalt Lions Clubs have voted the sum of $2,000 toward the purchase of a bus to be used by the B.C. Society for Crippled Children and the Cerebral Palsy Association of Victoria to take the children to the hospitals for treatment.

The money comes from donations to the Lions' Easter Seal campaign.

The bus will seat approximately 10 children and will have room for wheelchairs. There will be a special ramp so the wheelchairs can be taken into the vehicle with no discomfort to the youngsters.

Prices are being determined and final cost of the bus is expected to be $3,000, with the other $1,000 provided by the association.

The association will supply a driver and will man the bus for one year, after which the society will take over the work.

Woman Adjudicator Possible for Festival

OTTAWA (CP)—The Dominion Drama Festival may use a woman as adjudicator at its 1955 festival, which opens January 11 at Corner Brook, Nfld.

DDF director Richard MacDonald said he would not release names at this time. The other woman being considered, for the regional festivals, was English. That's all he would say.

Should one of the women be chosen, she would be the first to adjudicate the festival.

Mr. MacDonald, who recently returned from a month-long visit to Europe where he spoke to prospective adjudicators and saw 20 plays, said the DDF also might find a suitable Canadian to adjudicate the regional festivals.

There was not a very heavy crop of bilingual adjudicators such as the DDF requires and at an executive meeting in Toronto on his return to Canada, Mr. MacDonald had found that there is no restriction on nationality or sex in selecting an adjudicator.

The chief problem in picking a woman was to find one hardy enough to stand the gruelling three months of travel to the regional festivals. Mr. MacDonald said he suspects that a woman could stand the trip as well as a man.

Mr. MacDonald said the regional festivals will run from east to west, concluding with the week-long finals in Regina beginning May 9.

Dates of regional festivals have been set, but where they will be held has been decided in only six regions so far.

The dates in western areas, with locations in brackets where available: Saskatchewan (Yorkton), February 25-28; Manitoba, March 3-5; Alberta, March 11-12; British Columbia, March 14-16.

No Traffic Aid, CNR Hotels on Block

MONTREAL—An unsolicited offer has been received by the Canadian National Railways for four of its hotels.

Included in the offer are two year-round hotels and two summer resorts: The Prince Edward Hotel, Brandon, Man.; the Prince Arthur Hotel, Port Arthur, Ont.; Minaki Lodge, Minaki, Ont., and Pictou Lodge, Pictou, N.S.

The company disclosed the offer Tuesday when it published a notice inviting all interested parties, particularly local community interests, to submit bids.

Commenting upon the company's readiness to dispose of these properties if a satisfactory factory deal can be made, Robert Somerville, general manager of Canadian National hotels, pointed out that the disposal of these smaller units would not mean that the CNR is going out of the hotel business but that the sale would enable the railway to concentrate on its larger commercial hotels.

FIRST TRIPLETS IN 40 YEARS BORN IN CITY

Three of Kind Make Full House

Three of a kind are going to make a full house for Mr. and Mrs. John W. Griffiths, 2840 Cadboro Bay Road, who yesterday became the proud parents of Victoria's first identical triplets in 40 years. Happy parents look fondly at their handsome sons just a few hours after their arrival shortly after noon at St. Joseph's Hospital with Dr. Lloyd W. Bassett in charge.

Overtime For Stork

Set of Healthy Big Boys;
'What a Panic,' Says Mom

BY LAWRIE JOSLIN

The stork worked overtime yesterday—something the old bird hasn't done in Victoria for 40 years—carrying triplets to Mr. and Mrs. John W. Griffiths, 2840 Cadboro Bay Road.

All five are doing fine, even Pop.

The three sturdy mites—all boys—were delivered shortly after noon by Dr. Lloyd W. Bassett at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The happy, excited parents posed for pictures with their babies within a few short hours of their arrival.

Big for triplets, the babies weighed four pounds, six ounces; five pounds, 11 ounces, and five pounds, 13 ounces. The first arrived at 12:19 p.m., the second at 12:25, and the third at 12:33.

"What a panic!" This was the way the overjoyed mother summed things up as she sought help from the nurses in identifying which of her babies was "A," which was "B" and which was "C."

The young couple has not yet decided on names for the three sons.

AFTER HUNTER BOYS?

"Maybe we should call them Maurice, Barley and Bruce after those Hunter boys who do all that funny advertising," said Mrs. Griffiths, laughing.

The triplets weren't exactly a shock for the Griffiths because they peeked before Mr. Stork's arrival. An X-ray examination two months ago indicated that triplets were coming.

Even so, they still could scarcely believe their eyes after the happy event.

The proud father is employed by Universal Sheet Metal Works. He and his wife, the former Lorna Burns, are both 26. They have one other child, a boy, only 22 months old.

MARRIED 37 YEARS

How long have they been married? They were so excited they had difficulty remembering.

"About three and a half years," said Mr. Griffiths. "It must have been that long to have all these children," said Mrs. Griffiths. Neither parent knew of any previous cases of multiple births in their families.

The young couple is now living with Mrs. Griffiths' mother, Mrs. G. I. Burns, but they are building a two-bedroom home under NHA on Argyle.

GLAD THEY'RE BOYS

Mrs. Griffiths was relieved that all her babies are boys. "Now we can have them all in one bedroom in bunk beds," she said.

Mrs. Griffiths confessed that she isn't really ready for her new babies. Their birth found her with little more in the way of clothes than a few tiny nightgowns. She was so ill during her confinement that she wasn't able to do any sewing or knitting.

Both parents love children. Mrs. Griffiths was a teacher at Doncaster school until a couple of years ago. She has lived here for about nine years.

Mr. Griffiths is the son of Rev. and Mrs. T. G. Griffiths, 3340 Richmond. Until his retirement about two years ago, Mr. Griffiths, Sr., was minister at St. Aidan's United Church.

The beaming grandfather arrived back in Victoria yesterday from Sackville, N.B., where he had been attending a United Church general council meeting.

IDENTICAL TRIPLETS

Dr. Bassett said the babies are identical triplets.

He has delivered many twins in the course of his practice, but never before triplets.

Triplets are so rare—about one case in 8,000 pregnancies—that Dr. Bassett believes his chances of delivering another set are slim.

Hospital authorities, as happy about the big event as the parents, said that as far as they can learn triplets haven't been born in Victoria for 40 years.

Mrs. Ada McKenzie, head nurse, said the birth was the biggest thrill she has experienced in her nine years on the maternity wing.

BIGGER AND BIGGER

Barbara Holgate, a student nurse in attendance at the birth, said: "I was afraid to look at first, but they just kept getting bigger and bigger."

Mrs. McKenzie and Miss Holgate said Mrs. Griffiths was not in labor long "and came through it very well."

Officials of the provincial vital statistics bureau said triplets are a rarity in B.C., usually occurring only once a year in the province, and occasionally twice.

Mr. and Mrs. Griffiths praised their doctor and the staff at St. Joseph's for the kind and efficient attention.

Asked if they plan on having any more children, the pert, young mother replied with a pretty smile:

"How many do you need for a football team?"

BETTY HUTTON

Betty Hutton Quitting

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Betty Hutton, 33, said yesterday she is retiring from show business "because I just can't take the heartbreak anymore."

She said that after a Las Vegas night club engagement she will quit performing and devote her time to being a mother.

"I'm tired," she declared. "This business is not as glamorous as it seems. It can be just as heartbreaking as it is glamorous."

"There are other things in life besides money. I haven't been able to even see my kids. When they were younger I could take them with me, but now Lindsay is eight and in the third grade and Candy is six and in the first grade."

Betty has been unable to find a movie that she wanted to do, and has been off the screen four years. She was disappointed in her first TV "spectacular" show, "Satins and Spurs."

Voting Drubs Leftists

Communist-supported proposals were batted down right and left by a big majority of the 850 delegates in a day of political operations that also saw the CCL decide to renew its ties with the CCF on the political front.

Major anti-Red action was the decision of the 400,000-member congress to continue its support of the Communist-fighting International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, a move taken over the protests of leftists in a shouting debate.

As a follow-up to that step, the congress threw out a left-wing resolution that called for the CCL to send delegates to a forthcoming conference of the Moscow-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions.

Leftists also led the opposition to the CCL renewing its long-standing political association with the CCF, but again they were swamped by a top-heavy majority.

Mercy Killer Acquitted

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—John Moskal, 59, was acquitted of a murder charge Tuesday in connection with the "mercy" slaying of his 18-year-old invalid daughter, Adele, in 1952.

A 12-man jury declared him "not guilty by reason of temporary insanity."

Moskal had readily admitted plunging a knife into the daughter, a helpless cripple since she was two months old.

Bevan Loses Bid for Executive; Party Backs German Arms Plan

France, Allies Split on Arms

LONDON (AP)—France and her Western allies disagreed Tuesday night on how to prevent any runaway German rearmament. The question emerged as the key issue before the nine-power conference meeting to free and rearm West Germany in the Atlantic alliance.

French Premier Pierre Mendès-France called for a seven-country European armaments authority to control the production and supply of weapons in West Germany. France, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg and Italy, Britain would be an uncontrolled seventh partner.

German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer proposed instead that controls be exercised by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization over all of its continental European members. West Germany would become NATO's 15th member nation.

Attlee and his moderate leadership had to beat off a

Sixteen Governments Sign

Men Without Country To Get Bill of Rights

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Sixteen governments Tuesday signed a new world bill of rights for people without a country.

Neither the United States, Canada nor Russia participated. The 16 endorsed a 3,800-word "declaration relating to the status of stateless persons," intended to help an estimated 40,000,000.

It puts all such on an equal basis with the nationals of the country where they live when it comes to getting public relief, social security and food rations. It puts them on an equal basis with all other foreigners when it comes to getting jobs, going into the professions, acquiring property and benefiting from higher education and public housing.

For want of passports, they are to be issued special travel documents uniform the world over.

Signers are Belgium, Brazil, Britain, Costa Rica, Denmark, Ecuador, El Salvador, West Germany, Guatemala, Honduras, Lichtenstein, The Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland and Vatican City. Others may sign through 1955.

Scarborough, England (Reuters)—The British Labor party Tuesday ousted leftist leader Aneurin Bevan from the executive and approved support for the government's policy backing West German rearmament.

But party leader Clement Attlee obtained only a narrow majority of votes for German rearmament at the party's annual conference here.

Attlee and his moderate leadership had to beat off a violent attack on the plan by backers of Bevan and other leftists.

Victory by the margin of about 250,000 votes in voting by delegates representing the party's 6,000,000 members did save Attlee from the dilemma of a complete switch on the policy he has been advocating in Parliament for months. But it also made clear that there is far from unanimous support here for a rearmament Germany.

The official resolution that talks should be held with other socialist parties on how best to rearm Germany was carried by a vote of 3,270,000 to 3,022,000. The strident, 57-year-old Bevan met a crushing defeat in a contest with Hugh Gaitskell, chancellor of the exchequer in Attlee's last cabinet, for the vacant post of party treasurer. The job carries a seat on the executive committee, the party's ruling body.

Pact Urged For Defense

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—The chairman of the U.S. congressional atomic committee Tuesday called for a new mutual continental defense pact between Canada and the United States.

Despite Hug, Kind Words OTTAWA (CP)—Uncle Louis Tuesday took a sobbing eight-year-old girl into his arms at Ottawa's Union Station and said he was sorry.

Prime Minister St. Laurent apologized to golden-haired Jill Winnett of Ottawa because officials had prevented her from kissing her grandmother goodbye.

The incident occurred two or three minutes after Prime Minister Yoshida of Japan left Ottawa by train.

Canada's fatherly, 72-year-old prime minister said his official goodbye to Mr. Yoshida. After a few minutes he left the concourse for the station rotunda.

But he stopped short at the gates between the concourse and the rotunda, where Jill Winnett was standing with her mother and 11-year-old brother John. The little girl was holding her mother's hand and tears streamed down her cheeks.

Mr. St. Laurent asked the mother, Mrs. Mary Winnett, wife of Capt. Harry Winnett of the Royal Canadian Navy, what had happened.

Seance Spurs Callers

Percy J. Philip said Tuesday people are calling day and night. Some are cranks and some are spiritualists. But most simply want the text of the address he made last Friday over the CBC.

It was in this talk that he told of communicating with Mr. King, known to be interested in spiritualism before his death in 1950. Mr. Philip said the talk took place last June as he sat on a garden bench at Mr. King's summer home at Kingsmere, Que., 10 miles from Ottawa.

Since the broadcast many persons have visited Kingsmere. Some have sat silent on the bench in an apparent effort to duplicate Mr. Philip's effort.

Tuesday this was a notice appeared on the bulletin board of the parliamentary press gallery: "Weather permitting, Mackenzie King will give an interview from his bench in the ruins of Kingsmere next Sunday at 3:30 p.m. celestial time.—PJP."

Attlee Majority Still Slim

Bevan Loses Bid for Executive; Party Backs Germ an Arms Plan

France, Allies Split on Arms

LONDON (AP)—France and her Western allies disagreed Tuesday night on how to prevent any runaway German rearmament. The question emerged as the key issue before the nine-power conference meeting to free and rearm West Germany in the Atlantic alliance.

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France called for a seven-country European armaments authority to control the production and supply of weapons in West Germany. France, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg and Italy, Britain would be an uncontrolled seventh partner.

German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer proposed instead that controls be exercised by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization over all of its continental European members. West Germany would become NATO's 15th member nation.

But party leader Clement Attlee obtained only a narrow majority of votes for German rearmament at the party's annual conference here.

SCARBOROUGH, England (Reuters)—The British Labor party Tuesday ousted leftist leader Aneurin Bevan from the executive and approved support for the government's policy backing West German rearmament.

But party leader Clement Attlee obtained only a narrow majority of votes for German rearmament at the party's annual conference here.

Attlee and his moderate leadership had to beat off a violent attack on the plan by backers of Bevan and other leftists.

Victory by the margin of about 250,000 car votes in voting by delegates representing the party's 6,000,000 members did save Attlee from the dilemma of a complete switch on the policy he has been advocating in Parliament for months.

It also made clear that there is far from unanimous support here for a rearmament Germany.

The official resolution that talks should be held with other socialist parties on how best to rearm Germany was carried by a vote of 3,270,000 to 3,022,000.

The strident, 57-year-old Bevan met a crushing defeat in a contest with Hugh Gaitskell, chancellor of the exchequer in Attlee's last cabinet, for the vacant post of party treasurer.

The job carries a seat on the executive committee, the party's ruling body.
